

Poll #5 in USA (March 31-April 1): Survey on the number of persons with symptoms compatible with COVID-19 in USA

We are an international team of scientists from several research institutions around the world that tries to collect data that may be used to estimate the number of persons with symptoms compatible with COVID-19 in different countries, and how this number evolves over time. In this particular survey we would like to get data from the USA. Please answer only if you know people in this country.

Please answer this survey once a day, even if your answers do not change.
